

A short media overview of law enforcement assisted diversion in NC:

<https://www.wect.com/story/32385480/addicts-could-soon-get-help-instead-of-jail/>

The Fayetteville PD LEAD policy is the first item linked here: <http://www.nchrc.org/lead/policies-and-mous/>

An evaluation of Seattle's LEAD program (the nation's first) is here:

<https://www.fordfoundation.org/media/2543/2014-lead-process-evaluation.pdf>

Recent criticism of Seattle's LEAD (for making police gatekeepers to services) is driving changes:

<https://www.thestranger.com/slog/2020/07/23/44146781/seattle-arrest-diversion-program-will-dump-spd-gatekeepers>

LEAD doesn't always work, as New Haven shows:

https://www.newhavenindependent.org/index.php/archives/entry/lead_report/

An exhaustive national review of LEAD programs by the Center for Court Innovation:

https://www.courtinnovation.org/sites/default/files/media/document/2018/Creating_Off_Ramps.pdf