

Criminal Justice Fellows Program Frequently Asked Questions

Does the eligible county requirement apply to where I may attend college?

No. A Fellow may reside in any North Carolina county and attend any of the 58 North Carolina Community Colleges. They must, however, go to work in an eligible criminal justice profession in an eligible county for at least four years after graduating.

For example, a Fellow could reside in Wake County, attend Johnston Community College in Johnston County for their Associate in Applied Sciences Degree, and then go to work in an eligible criminal justice profession in Harnett County for a minimum of four years.

I'm taking a year off from school after I graduate from high school or graduated from high school many years ago. Will I be eligible for the program?

Yes. The program is open to high school seniors and graduates who would like to enter into an eligible criminal justice profession in an eligible North Carolina county.

What does residency mean?

Applicants for the program must be "a resident for tuition purposes as defined in § 116-143.1(a)(2)".

According to § 116-143.1(a)(2), "a 'resident for tuition purposes' is a person who qualifies for the in-State tuition rate. To qualify as a resident for tuition purposes, a person must have established legal residence (domicile) in North Carolina and maintained that legal residence for at least 12 months immediately prior to his or her classification as a resident for tuition purposes. Every applicant for admission shall be required to make a statement as to his length of residence in the State."

Based on this state law, an applicant must have lived in a North Carolina County for 12 months.

Application to the program requires a copy of the applicant's driver's license or government issued ID as proof of residency.

Do I have to maintain full-time student status while in the program?

Yes. You must become and remain a full-time student while in the program unless you do not need to be a full-time student in order to finish your degree in two years. For example, if you earned college credit in high school or completed summer classes, you may not need to be a full-time student during your final semester(s) to graduate. You must complete and submit a waiver request form to apply for a waiver of the full-time requirement.

If I fail a class, will the program pay for it when I retake it?

No. The program will not pay for you to retake classes that you have failed or withdrawn from. You may, however, pay for the class on your own.

I would like to take an online class at another community college. Will the fellowship pay for the class at that college?

No. The fellowship only applies to classes taken at your chosen/primary community college. Any classes you take elsewhere will be your responsibility to pay. If you are planning to fully transfer to a different community college (ex. you are moving and transferring colleges), you must complete and submit a transfer request form. This form must be submitted to the program before the end of the semester prior to the semester you would like to transfer.

Will the fellowship pay for a bachelor's degree?

No. The fellowship is intended only for an Associate in Applied Science Degree in Criminal Justice or another Committee approved field. Fellows are expected to graduate within 2 years and become employed full-time in an eligible criminal justice profession in an eligible county upon graduation.

When is the application due date?

The application process opens on September 1st of each year and closes on April 30th of each year. Applications are processed as they are received and reviewed for selection quarterly. The program awards only 100 fellowships per year, so apply as soon as possible before spots run out. Completed applications and all accompanying materials must be received by April 30th to be considered for program admission in the fall. Application materials received after April 30th will not be processed.

What is the selection process?

The selection process has two parts: application grading and Committee selection. Applicants are first graded on their scholastic profile (as determined by their class rank, grade point average, and SAT or ACT scores), writing ability, school and community service, references, and potential for excellence in an eligible criminal justice profession. Applications are graded as they are received. Graded applications are then presented to the North Carolina Criminal Justice Fellows Committee for selection. The Committee meets quarterly, and applications are presented to them for selection as they are received and graded.

What professions can I go into after graduating with my degree under the program?

You may go into any profession overseen by either the Criminal Justice Education and Training Standards Commission or the Sheriff's Education and Training Standards Commission. Eligible professions include state and local law enforcement officers, state correctional officers, state juvenile justice officers, other correctional officers maintained by local governments and juvenile justice agencies, sworn sheriffs and deputy sheriffs, detention officers, and telecommunicators under the direct supervision of a law enforcement agency.

May I seek employment with a state agency after graduating?

Yes. You must, however, request that the state agency post you in an eligible county and you must work in an eligible county for a minimum of four years to be eligible for loan forgiveness.
